

CORPORATE SOCIAL RESPONSIBILITY

We, Valland SpA, are aware of the increasing expectation of all communities that Oil & Gas Operators and Major Management Contractors maintain an ethical and fair approach to the way they carry out their business, a process that is usually referred to as “Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR)”.

In its broad context, it includes operating practices around Business Ethics, Labour Standards, Human Rights, Health and Safety, Environment Preservation, and Community Support, as illustrated below.

The Company is increasingly keen to promote a proactive attitude towards the evolution and adoption of effective CSR practices throughout the supply chain.

Valland SpA is committed to conducting its business in accordance with the highest standards of ethics and integrity.

The Code of Ethics and Conflict of Interest Regulations define the ethical principles based on the following key points:

- acting with honesty and integrity in our dealings with customers, employees, government, partners and contractors;
- treating others with fairness, dignity and respect, free from harassment and discrimination;
- striving for professionalism and excellence.

International Standard SA 8000 of SAI, Social Accountability International, has been assumed as a Guidance Document to specify the requirements to enable the Company to:

- develop, maintain, and enforce its policy of Social Accountability in order to manage those issues which the Company can control or influence;
- demonstrate to interested parties that the practices and procedures are based on a worldwide recognised standard.

ISO 26000:2010 “Guidance on Social Responsibility” has also been assumed as a further guidance to achieve the above mentioned objectives.

We count on our contractors, suppliers and consultants, to help us to maintain our high standards and promote an environment of ethical and fair business practices.

Thank you for being our partner in the commitment to business ethics and integrity.
